Viticulture

An unsettled spring meant a slow start to growing. After warmer temps mid-November the inclement weather, including some snowfall, continued into flowering. The vines set with small berries on compact bunches. A good of rain fell in January then dried out and heated up. Windstorms visited over Easter. The crop was picked at optimal ripeness. Overall, the season was warmer than normal with lower yields.

Winemaker's Notes

The fruit was left to hang until flavours really started to pop in the vineyard. Foot stomped and left overnight before being whole bunch pressed direct to fermentor, warmed and inoculated for fermentation. Fermented cool then stabilised and filtered but not fined. Bottled in August 21.
